Author	Topic: BFL offers 1000 BTC back up on power claims (Read 2666 times)
Inaba Hero Member ●●●●● Online Posts: 3587 	BFL offers 1000 BTC back up on power claims quote #1 October 19, 2012, 09:04:56 PM Since Tom is refusing to actually make the bet he himself proposed between us, I am offering up a guarantee of 1000 BTC to charity (I will take suggestions on which charity to donate this to) if BFL does not meet it's power claims within 10% - meaning if BFL's power consumption is more than 66w for a Single SC, we lose the "bet."  Now, I ask if Tom is willing to step up and back the winning side. He is 100% confident that we will not meet our power claims (which is the genesis of the failed bet), and as such I ask that he pony up 1000 BTC to the same charity if we do make our power claims.  So there it is: Tom is confident that we won't make our power claims, I am confident that we will. I am willing to put up 1000 BTC to show my confidence in BFL products. Is Tom confident enough to do the same or is he just blowing hot air?  Report to moderator  The world according to CreativeX: Why would I require evidence to formulate an opinion?
